

Dear Friends,

I found an article on the internet: How to write an invitation letter?

"The tone of an invitation is always positive, in anticipation of a pleasurable occasion. Picture your guests smiling when they read your letter of invitation. Clever phrasing, poetry or a themed approach may be appropriate for an informal occasion, but you should express the details clearly."

I don't know if the style of my invitation is in accordance with the mentioned guideline but what I know and want to say is you are more than welcome to

BALKAN BLUES

An audiovisual and curatorial program: live music and dance, video installations and exhibitions based on the same vibrations. This happening is constructed around elements extracted from the essence of the Blues, Balkan Blues!

I promise you lots of good vibrations, a unique atmosphere, brilliant performers and good food!

Sincerely yours,

Zoran Lesic

Grand Finale Sunday March 1 2009

Program starts at 17:00, doors open at 16:30

ANNA, Anna Paulownastraat 76, Den Haag

If you want to join us for a delicious Balkan diner, make a reservation before February 27 at info@artikraak.org.

www.zoran-lesic.com/BalkanBlues.html

www.artikraak.org